Portfolio management

Successfully investing in global asset backed securities requires specialist experience, global industry contacts and specialised portfolio risk systems.

Bentham has a long track record in managing global asset backed securities.

Bentham utilises market leading investment systems to assist in security selection, portfolio construction and risk management.

Asset Backed Securities – overview

The global asset backed securities market is very large and well-established, with over A$14 trillion of outstanding issuance across US, Europe and Australia¹.

Higher rated tranches of ABS issuance offer investors a high credit quality, higher yielding, secured alternative to investment grade corporate and government bonds, with low interest rate risk.

Unique risk and return characteristics across ABS sub-sectors can provide portfolio diversification benefits to investors.

Underlying assets

An asset backed security is a financial security that is backed (or secured) by a pool of underlying loans, mortgages, leases or other debt-like assets (the collateral). A key factor that determines the risk of an ABS is the credit quality of these individual assets. Debt backed assets have been proven to offer capital stability through different economic cycles and tend to be more commonly used.

Examples of global asset backed securities include, but are not limited to:

- Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS)
- Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLO)
- Aircraft backed securities
- Consumer auto loan backed securities
- Consumer credit card backed securities
- Commercial real estate mortgage backed securities (CMBS)
- Bank mortgage or cash flow backed securities (Covered Bonds)
- Container and rail car backed securities

The pool of underlying assets is managed by an investment manager in accordance with a set of portfolio investment rules.

Investors in ABS issues receive detailed information regarding the underlying asset pool and compliance with the issue's investment rules.

Structural benefits in ABS

Global ABS structures typically include specific terms to help preserve the principal of investors in the higher quality, rated tranches. While these structural features vary across transactions, common examples include:

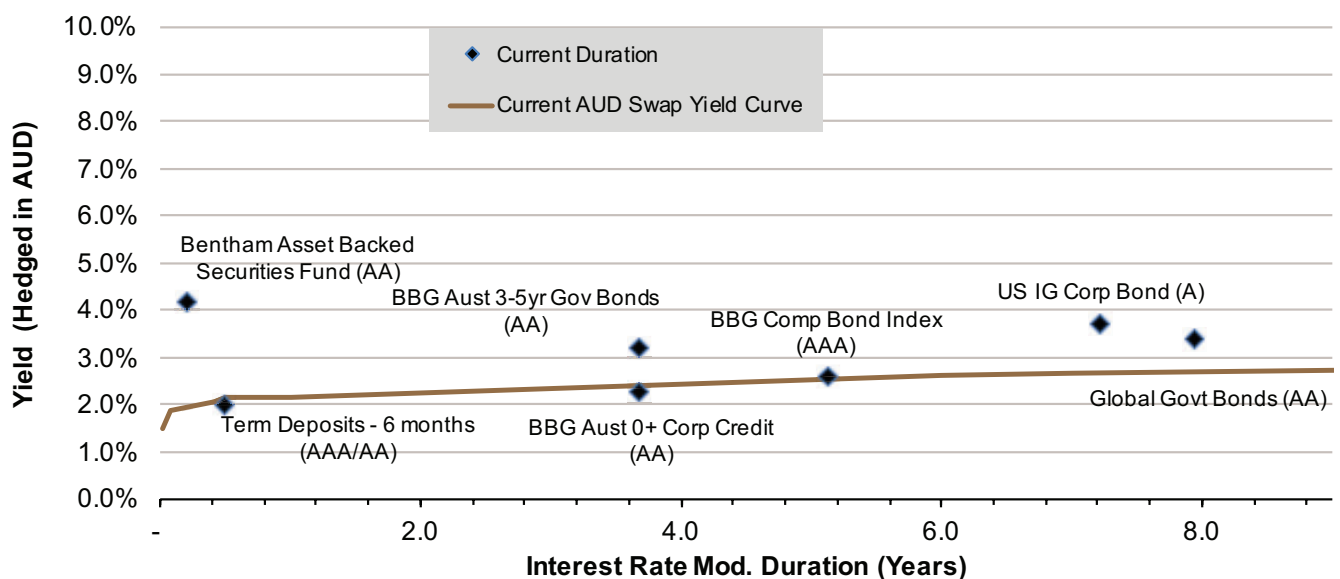

- Cashflow priority
- Security
- Seniority
- Structural subordination
- Reduction in leverage over time.

These features provide an important benefit to investors, supporting capital stability.

Investor Suitability

The Fund is suitable for Wholesale Investors. While credit risk in the Fund is low, the Fund's investments may be structurally complex and market conditions can lead to price volatility.

Chart: Global ABS offers high yield, high credit quality, and low interest rate risk
