² Active Return of the Fund is the difference between the Total Return and the return of the Benchmark. Gross Returns (before fees) are calculated by adding back the fees and expenses deducted. Please refer to the PDS for more information on fees and expenses.

Portfolio and Market Returns

The Bentham Global Income Fund had a total return (after fees) of 4.09% in the month of January, outperforming the benchmark (50% Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index, 50% Bloomberg AusBond Composite Index) by 2.58%. On a before fees basis the fund returned 4.15% for the month, outperforming the benchmark by 2.65%.

Investment markets registered strong gains in January on boosted hopes that Central Bank cash rates may peak in the first half of 2023. Global inflation indicators eased below expectations and US Fed Reserve comments foreshadowed a slower pace of rate hikes and/or a pause. The economic outlook has also improved with news that the reopening of the Chinese economy from COVID restrictions has occurred quicker than expected.

The top contributors to performance included Capital Securities, Global Syndicated Loans and Investment Grade Credit; whilst the bottom performing contributors included Equity Securities, Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS) and Bond.

Although investment markets had a strong performance in January, we remain cautious because of the long and variable lagged impact of much higher interest rates which are yet to impact the real economy. At this point, we anticipate the risk that credit spreads may increase (albeit already from their currently elevated levels) and government bond yields to benefit. In our multi-sector credit portfolios, we have increased the interest rate duration and still maintain defensive credit exposure positioning.
