² Active Return of the Fund is the difference between the Total Return and the return of the Benchmark. Gross Returns (before fees) are calculated by adding back the fees and expenses deducted. Please refer to the PDS for more information on fees and expenses.

Portfolio Returns

The Bentham Global Income Fund NZD had a total return (after fees) of 1.24% in the month of October, outperforming the benchmark (50% Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index (hedged to NZD), 50% Bloomberg AusBond Composite Index (hedged to NZD)) by 0.97%. On a before fees basis the fund returned 1.31% for the month, outperforming the benchmark by 1.04%.

The top contributors to performance included Global Syndicated Loans, Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLO) and Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS); whilst the bottom performing contributors included Investment Grade Credit, Asset Backed Securities (ABS) and Capital Securities.

Market Update

Global markets faced a mixed backdrop in October 2025, with inflation trends diverging across regions and geopolitical risks keeping investors cautious.

In Australia, inflation surprised to the upside and reinforced the RBA's decision to hold rates steady at 3.60%. By contrast, inflation in the U.S. and U.K. came in softer than expected, supporting bond markets and potentially paving the way for further easing. Meanwhile, RBNZ surprised markets with a larger-than-expected 50 bp rate cut amid weak domestic growth. The month also saw renewed political and geopolitical developments, including a temporary halt in the Gaza conflict and the longest U.S. government shutdown in history.

The stronger inflation print forced the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) to maintain a hold on interest rates during its November meeting, raising further doubt regarding future rate cuts. Despite these crosscurrents, global growth forecasts remain stable, with the IMF revising its 2025 outlook slightly higher to 3.2%. The U.S. economy continues to show resilience, though momentum is softening, while China's data hinted at modest stabilisation.

In Australia, bond yields remained neutral over the course of the month. Investment-grade credit spreads widened by 4 bps, while U.S. high yield widened by 14 bps. Global Equities (MSCI - Unhedged AUD) rose 3.3% over the month, and the S&P advanced 2.5% over the course of October.

On the active side we managed a large switch away from Australian duration across our multisector funds just before the disappointing AUD CPI. In our Global Income Fund, we reduced AUD Duration exposure by 2 years (modified duration) and switched into USD and GBP. Simultaneously, we reduced the Global Income Fund's overall duration by 0.50 years (modified duration) over the month.

Fund Distributions

Distribution frequency	Monthly
Monthly distribution ⁹	0.33% (Oct 2025)
Target distribution rate (FY26) ¹⁰	4.0%

³ Spread over the swap rate.

⁴ An assigned credit rating of BBB-/Baa3 or better by a credit rating agency.

⁵ Volatility is Standard Deviation.

⁶ Sharpe Ratio is the excess return over the Bloomberg NZBond Bank Bill Index (before fees) divided by Standard Deviation.

⁷ Tracking Error is the Standard Deviation of the Active Return (before fees).

⁸ Information Ratio is the Active Return (before fees) divided by the Tracking Error.

⁹ Calculated as the cents per unit (CPU) distribution at the month end divided by the ex-distribution unit price at the start of the month.

¹⁰ Bentham intends to achieve the distribution rate for FY2026 with taxable income. If there is a shortfall of taxable income, the distribution may possibly include a capital return. The current distribution rate setting was based on the running yield of the Fund as at 30 June 2025 and assumes the Fund continues to achieve an equivalent yield for FY2026. Actual distributions, however, can differ from this setting because of future matters which are not known or able to be presently identified.
