<sup>1</sup> Total Return (after fees) is calculated using pre-distribution month end withdrawal unit prices, and assumes all income is reinvested in additional units. Total Return equals Growth return (after fees) plus Distribution return (after fees).

<sup>2</sup> Active Return of the Fund is the difference between the Total Return and the return of the Benchmark. Gross Returns (before fees) are calculated by adding back the fees and expenses deducted. Please refer to the PDS for more information on fees and expenses.

Portfolio Returns

The Bentham Global Income Fund had a total return (after fees) of -0.09% in the month of November, outperforming the benchmark (50% Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index, 50% Bloomberg AusBond Composite Index) by 0.20%. On a before fees basis the fund returned -0.03% for the month, outperforming the benchmark by 0.26%.

Market Update

Global markets remained resilient in November, while inflation trends continued to diverge across regions and geopolitical risks kept investors cautious. Softer inflation prints in the U.S. and U.K. supported bond markets and reinforced expectations of policy easing, while Australia faced renewed inflation pressures that kept the RBA firmly on hold. Meanwhile, New Zealand delivered another rate cut amid weak domestic growth.

Australia's Headline CPI rose to 3.8%, driven by housing and electricity costs, while trimmed mean inflation held at 3.3%, above the RBA's 2–3% target band. The RBA left the cash rate unchanged at 3.60%. As of today, the market now expects two rate hikes in 2026 unless labour market conditions deteriorate sharply.

Global equity markets were mixed in November. The MSCI World Index (unhedged in AUD) rose just 0.1%, reflecting scepticism over elevated AI-driven valuations and caution around central bank expectations. In the U.S., the S&P 500 also advanced by 0.1%.

Australian Fixed Income sold off over the month, with rates rising 27 bps following a hot CPI print and hawkish sentiment from the RBA. Similarly, Japanese rates sold off, underperforming over the month. Meanwhile, U.S. Treasuries and U.K. Gilts rallied, driven by dovish sentiment from their respective central banks. On the credit side, investment-grade and high-yield spreads both widened by 2 bps.

Over the course of November, Bentham active funds benefited from having overseas rather than just Australian interest rate duration. On the 1st of December Bentham funds the decreased interest rate duration further.

Fund Distributions

Distribution frequency	Monthly
Monthly distribution <sup>9</sup>	0.34%
Target distribution rate (FY26) <sup>10</sup>	4.00%

<sup>4</sup> The investment grade exposure is calculated using a duration adjusted Moody's Weighted Average Rating Factor (WARF) for both the S&P and Moody's security credit ratings within a portfolio.

<sup>9</sup> Calculated as the cents per unit (CPU) distribution at the month end divided by the ex-distribution unit price at the start of the month.

<sup>10</sup> Bentham intends to achieve the distribution rate for FY2026 with taxable income. If there is a shortfall of taxable income, the distribution may possibly include a capital return. The current distribution rate setting was based on the running yield of the Fund as at 30 June 2025 and assumes the Fund continues to achieve an equivalent yield for FY2026. Actual distributions, however, can differ from this setting because of future matters which are not known or able to be presently identified.

Past distributions are no indication of future distributions.

<sup>1</sup> Calculated as the cents per unit (CPU) distribution at month end divided by the ex-distribution unit price at the start of the month.

<sup>3</sup> In Oct-24, monthly distribution payments moved from start to the middle of the month, with Nov-24 being the first mid-month distribution, Oct-24 distribution was omitted.

<sup>4</sup> Annual distribution return (Year-to-Date) is calculated as the Total Return (after fees) minus Growth Return. Total Return (after fees) is calculated using pre-distribution month end withdrawal unit price, and assumes distributions are reinvested. Growth Return equals the percentage change in unit price.
